The captain says the Baldwin mill will [illegible] running in twenty days on Wana Whata ore. All the mines on the silver [illegible] vein are looking fine and opening up with [illegible] satisfaction, to those interested for a distance of 10 miles. Captain Connolly goes to San Francisco especially for the purpose of procuring fire brick for a furnace He intends refining his own concentrations and will [illegible] bullion to San Francisco within two months

WASHINGTON CITY.

A Way to Squelch Polygamy

Washington April [illegible] [illegible] has recently [illegible] that the [illegible] is [illegible] that the best way to [illegible] polygamy would be to annex Utah to Nevada It [illegible] it is argued quickly dispose of the problem without further trouble to congress

No Chance for Washington to Come In

Gossips also predict that a formidable movement will soon be made to admit Washington territory as a state in the Union and thereby provide two more Republican senators It is [illegible] necessary to say that such a move [illegible] it would have no possible chance of success in either branch of congress at present

Blair's Bill to Seat Sammy J.

Washington April 21—The first business in order in the house of representatives to morrow will be the settlement of the question raised and left pending last Monday as to the receipt of the Maryland legislature's resolution praying the enactment of a bill to provide means for the adjudication of the presidential title by the supreme court The general impression is that a political mistake was made in raising objections to the reception of this memorial and it is doubtful whether they will be pressed Very few prominent politicians in congress believe that a bill will be reported favorably or that in any event it will pass the house, but many sagacious members incline to the opinion that the resolution will be made the basis for an investigation by a committee of all matters connected with the electoral struggle of last winter and thus keep up continued agitation of the subject with a view to political effect in the autumn campaign and that the bill will be brought forward and perhaps passed in the next congress in order to operate on the next presidential election

Report Denied

Washington April 22—The published report that the senate had passed the house bill granting three months' pay to officers and soldiers of the Mexican war is erroneous

Official Changes Contemplated

The Herald's Washington correspondent receives rumors that Fenton is to be made collector at New York this week and Glenni W Shofield take a place in the cabinet

The Army Bill.

The Tribune's Washington special says The house committee on military affairs intends, if possible, to put its reorganization and pay bills as riders upon the army appropriation bills It has become apparent unless this can be done neither of these radical measures affecting the army will have a chance to be considered during the present session

The New Dollars.

The Times Washington special says New silver dollars to date $2 451 000

The McGarrahan Case.

Washington, April 22—The McGarrahan investigation was resumed by the senate committee on public lands this morning An hour or more was consumed by disputations between counsel as to the admissability of various documents offered by the New Idria Company They consisted of a letter from Secretary Cox to the commissioner of the general land office in reference to the status of the Panoche Grande controversy in 1870 and its previous history a letter from President Grant to Secretary Cox directing him to withhold the issuance of a patent to the New Idria Company while the McGarrahan claim remained pending in congress, and Secretary Cox's reply to this letter all of which have heretofore been published The committee decided that under the previous ruling they cannot now be received in evidence The committee also excluded a letter written by Acting Secretary Cowan August 4th, informing McGarrahan that the department declined to erase the cancellation which had been written across the record of the Panoche Grande patent by order of Secretary Cox Warwick Martin was next sworn as a witness for the New Idria company He testified that in April 1870 he was authorized by Neely Thompson to negotiate with McGarrahan for a compromise sale of the New Idria Company's interests in Panoche Grande and he made McGarrahan a proposition which was declined Witness then returned to New York and between the 1st and 10th of Oct 1870 became acquainted with Frederick Frank McGarrahan's secretary, and C F Shaw, McGarrahan's attorney, and reported to them that D O Mills, in behalf of the New Idria had authorized him to offer to sell the New Idria interests for $500 000 Shaw and Frank entertained the proposition and in frequent interviews assured him they were endeavoring to effect arrangements to obtain the money to close with the offer They referred in this connection to Moses Taylor and Marshall O Roberts as capitalists with whom McGarrahan was negotiating for names D O Mills went to California after arranging to leave the offer open until the 20th On the 7th Barron president of the New Idria Company arrived from Europe and asked witness for information as to what parties were conducting the negotiations. Witness up to that time had known only Shaw and Frank in the matter, but Shaw informed him that Simon Stevens was the person who was negotiating for McGarrahan with capitalists Witness introduced Stevens to Barron about the 8th or 9th of November and Stevens thanked him for the introduction On the 10th of November Barron informed witness that Lees and Walter the New York correspondents of the New Idria Co had received a telegram from San Francisco withdrawing the Mills proposition Barron intimated to him the evening before that this would probably be done as the parties did not seem disposed to raise the money

The New Orleans Mint Bill

Washington, April 22—The house committee on coinage, weights and measures agreed to report favorably the judiciary bill appropriating $75 000 to repair and put in operation the mint at New Orleans, authorizing the coinage of gold and silver thereat, and making an appropriation therefor.

Blair's Bill Put to Sleep

Chicago April 22—The Journal's Washington special says Montgomery Blair's resolutions on the presidential title were allowed by the republicans to go to the house judiciary committee to day without discussion the understanding being that they will sleep there

River and Harbor Bill.

The river and harbor bill was read in the house It appropriates seven millions

Coghlan's Resignation and the Successorship.

Washington April 22—News of the resignation of district attorney Coghlan has been received by the California delegation and the appointment of his successor was a subject of considerable conference among them to day Senator Booth announced that he would recommend John Lord Love for appointment Horace Davis is inclined to recommend second assistant Van Duser Sargent and representatives Page, Luttrell Wiggington and Wren have united in signing a letter to the attorney general recommending the place be given to Phillip Teare present assistant U S attorney In this letter they say Mr Teare is an able and finely educated lawyer is familiar with the duties of the place is of excellent personal character and his appointment would be a recognition of the principle of promotion of worthy persons in office In conversation several of these gentlemen say they have no objection to Van Duser but they regard Teare as having [illegible]

Sales of Bonds

Washington April [illegible] Secretary Sherman says the whole amount of sales of four per cents from [illegible] December [illegible] [illegible] of April was $[illegible] [illegible] run fifteen years and were [illegible] currency Since the contract with [illegible] nearly $[illegible] of the four per cents have been sold in 10 days the result of confidence inspired by the contract

THE EASTERN QUESTION.

The Mutual Withdrawal

London April 22 A St Petersburg correspondent telegraphs that the principle of simultaneous withdrawal of Russians and English from the immediate [illegible] Constantinople was accepted in London and St Petersburg [illegible] as its application [illegible] serious difficulties arose [illegible] party was afraid of losing, by the transaction Russians think if the British fleet retires to Besika Bay they ought to withdraw [illegible] day's march The English maintain that they ought to withdraw to Adrianople which is twenty-four hours railway journey distant from Constantinople

Still Fearing Russia.

London April 21—A Belgrade special says there is a serious fear that the Russians will attempt to seize Pirot and Ankpalanka Another disturbing element is the fear that the [illegible] may take advantage in the absence of [illegible] forces to increase the land fortifications or close the Dardanelles according as British or Russian influence is predominant

Torpedoes in the Sea of Marmora

London April 21—The Standard states that the reason Admiral Hornby's fleet was recently ordered to resume sending out the guard boats was that it was feared that two Russian torpedo boats were lurking in the Sea of Marmora

Character of the Issues

It appears that both English and Russian cabinets are willing to accept the principle that a congress meet to examine the changes necessary in the existing treaties, but England persists in the clear and formal right of the principle that all great changes in the east such as those proposed by the treaty of San Stefano constitute European and not merely a Russo Turkish question Russia's acceptance of this principle will greatly depend on the manner in which it is formulated There may be secret admission that the jealous exclusion of Europe from all knowledge of the negotiations between Russia and Turkey was a grave mistake but there certainly will be no open avowal to that effect

A Russian Ruse.

Paris April 21—The Journal Des Debats believes the proposal for a simultaneous withdrawal of Russians and English from the neighborhood of Constantinople is merely a Russian attempt to isolate England who will probably reject the proposal

Royal Trips Postponed

London April 21—A telegram from Berlin says it is stated that Emperor William will abandon his proposed journey to Weisbaden in view of the possible meeting of the congress at Berlin

Despondent in Tone.

London April 22—In spite of the negotiations concerning the simultaneous withdrawal of the English fleet and Russian forces from the neighborhood of Constantinople the prevailing feeling of the English press is one of great uneasiness. It is noticeable that all Berlin specials to English papers are couched in a very despondent tone Vienna correspondents write in the same tone

War Preparations in India

Calcutta April 22—All the energies of the government are concentrated on war preparations The native regiments have been ordered to recruit up to their full war strength immediately The Sepoys have responded cheerfully to the summons for foreign service and a number of regiments have spontaneously volunteered

Rallying Round the Flag

London April 22—In Great Britain the absentees belonging to the army reserve have joined their colors in a very satisfactory manner

To Ask American Protection

A dispatch dated Constantinople Saturday says Layard has taken steps to put English subjects under the protection of the American minister The latter has asked the consent of his government

Preparing for a Coup de Main.

A Vienna correspondent says the difficulty as to the distance to which the Russians shall withdraw is complicated by the belief that the new Turkish ministry is about to order the evacuation of Shumla, Batoum and Varna The possession of the last place would greatly facilitate a coup de main on the Bosporus

More Hope of the Congress.

New York April 21—The Herald's London special says the St Petersburg correspondent of the Herald telegraphs that the German and Austrian ambassadors at the Russian imperial court give it as their settled conviction that the congress will now assemble This information was obtained from interviews had Saturday evening with two ambassadors by a prominent diplomatist at the St Petersburg court

Order to Evacuate Shumla.

London April 22—The Times Bucharest dispatch says the Russians are not pushing their forces so far toward Carpathians as was intended

A Rustchuck correspondent telegraphs that Grand Duke Nicholas has summoned the Turks to evacuate Shumla within eight days

The Withdrawal Proposition Accepted

St Petersburg, April 22—The Agence Russe confirms the report that the proposition for simultaneous withdrawal of the British fleet and Russian forces from the vicinity of Constantinople has been accepted in principle and adds that the negotiations continue relative to the withdrawal and for a preliminary conference to settle the programme of the congress

Contradictory Reports.

Constantinople April 22—The report that new difficulties have arisen in connection with the mediation of Germany is contradicted Layard has received information that arrangements for the withdrawal to Adrianople and Besika bay is probable Intelligence in regard to the military situation is less encouraging

Mussulmans Arming.

A report is current that 80 000 Mussulmans presumably in the Balkan districts have armed themselves with cannon and rifles left behind by Suleiman Pasha at the time of his retreat, and attacked the Russians

Russian Loss

It is said the Russians have lost 900 men and 13 officers, and have asked for reinforcements from Adrianople

Bulgarians Getting Even

Bulgarians have attacked eight Mussulmans villages and committed great outrages

Russia Interpellated.

Constantinople April 22—The Turkish government has asked the Russian authorities why their ships approached the British fleet

Not Cordial.

Relations between Layard and the new Turkish minister are not cordial

Invited to the Conference

Rome, April 22—Several journals state that Italy has received and accepted an invitation to the conference

The Greek envoy has arrived here It is reported that he is charged to obtain a promise of Italy to endeavor to secure the admittance of Greece to the congress on the same footing as the signatories of the treaty of Paris

CANADA

Montreal Riot

Montreal April 21—There was a riot at the open air political meeting in the [illegible] [illegible] (Sunday evening) and just [illegible] on the outskirts [illegible] a desperate attack on the assemblage with [illegible] wounding a large number Nearly [illegible] have been attended by doctors Many others are less seriously injured The meeting was called in the interest of candidates for the Quebec legislature

CONGRESSIONAL.

Senate

Washington April 2[illegible]

[illegible] revised statutes which [illegible] tax on [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] the amount [illegible] He also moved to amend the substitute so as to strike out October [illegible] 18[illegible] [illegible] board [illegible] the passage of this [illegible] that part of the specie resumption act authorizing the retirement of 80 per cent of U S notes instead of [illegible] 1878

[illegible] make the bill the special order of May 1st

After some discussion Gordon withdrew his motion

[illegible] submitted the following

Resolved That any radical change in our present [illegible] laws would [illegible] business interests of the country and would seriously retard the return to prosperity for which all [illegible] earnestly contend

Resolved That in the judgment of the senate it should be the fixed policy of this government to so maintain our tariff for revenue as to afford adequate protection to American labor

Maxey introduced a bill to amend the one hundred and third article of war to forbid the trial or punishment of any person by courtmartial who shall not have been arraigned within two years or in case of desertion, three years after the offense In case he has been away from the country meantime that absence shall be excluded in computing time

Mitchell called up the bill extending the time for the completion of the Northern Pacific railroad

Windom favored it and said it reduced the land grant by several million acres. The company came with clean hands It was the shortest route across the continent and would unite the great lakes with the Pacific ocean Its completion would settle up the country and prevent Indian wars in that section

Lamar favored the bill which was postponed till to morrow

The senate resolution in reference to the disapproval of the act of the territory of Arizona in regard to incorporating the Southern Pacific Railroad Company passed

After an executive session the senate adjourned

House.

The motion to refer Blair's presidential resolution to the committee of the whole was defeated and they were referred to the committee on judiciary

Bills were introduced as follows

By Whitthorne—Repealing the tax on state banks

By Buckner—Prohibiting members of congress or government employes being counsel for claimants against the government.

By Knott—Providing that certain sections of the revised statutes shall not be so construed as to authorize any telegraph company incorporated under the laws of a state to construct maintain and operate any telegraphic lines over and along any military or postal roads within any of the states which are not the property of the United States

Springer proposed a constitutional amendment prohibiting special legislation

After the morning hour Butler called up the motion to suspend the rules and pass the bill for the issue of fractional currency and treasury notes of one two three and five dollars

Cox said it should be considered fully The bill was defeated

Reagan wanted to suspend the rules and pass the river and harbor bill

Cox said some items therein were unconstitutional, as millions were appropriated for inconsiderable rivers and creeks

The Speaker overruled the point

After some confusion the bill was read

Cox said he would move an amendment to supply water for some of the rivers.

The confusion increased and the Speaker with much severity reproved members, one of whom suggested the riot act be read

Rice moved to adjourn defeated

The rules were suspended and the bill passed 166 to 66 It appropriates $7 400,000

House adjourned

Cox's protest is signed by 28 members and objects to the passage of the substitute reported by Reagan to the house river and harbor bill

First—That its large amount requires debate instead of the passage under the suspension of the rules

Second—The house rules are entered to prevent voting in gross On such appropriations each item should be considered separately

Third The right to consider appropriations in committee of the whole or in the house itself should be sacredly maintained

Fourth—A bill of this nature virtually abrogates the eighth section of the first article of the constitution When a deficit threatens the treasury such a bill is unjust a burden on the tax payers

It is signed as follows Cox Knott, McKenzie Blackburn Springer Luttrell Clymer Willis Finlay Beebe Jones Carlisle Caldwell, McMahon Hewett Fort J Sparks, Turney Neal Gardner Browne Robinson Candler Stenger Rice Dickey Hamilton and Ellis

EXTRAVAGANT ADMINISTRATION

PORTLAND April 18 18[illegible]

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

A large majority of the people of Oregon [illegible] loudly for reform in the financial policy of our state We have a constitution It is true providing for an economical government but of late years this instrument has been completely ignored and set at defiance even by those whose names are appended to it as its framers The administration of Governor Grover for a period of over six years was an ignominious failure and will stand in history as more corrupt and extravagant than any that preceded it It is to be hoped whichever political party prevails in the coming contest that those chosen to administer affairs will see that a radical change is effected in the interests of the people and in accordance with constitutional requirements

Governor Grover when he assumed the duties of governor, made promises which were never fulfilled. He promised us an economical administration—an honest administration The people of Oregon can answer the economical part when they walk up to the tax collector's office to pay a special tax of three mills on the dollar to pay out standing warrants the honest part when they remember that H B Gilfry the man of many offices ever faithful and true drew from the state treasury $14,250 10 in six years time on a salary of $1 200 per annum

The various messages of Gov Grover are replete with reference to constitutional limitations as to indebtedness but his practical enforcement of his views are rare Permit me to cite your readers to a paragraph of his message to the legislature in 1874 which shows on his part ignorance of the facts as they existed or a wilful intent to shirk the responsibility from his own shoulders to those of his predecessor In that message he says "There has been an apparent large increase of outstanding warrants since my last biennial message This (increase) is owing to the fact that nearly all the warrants drawn on the treasury from 1868 to 1870 were suspended for the reason that they were drawn without an appropriation having first been made for their payment. See Grover's message to legislature in 1874 page 7

Now the truth as shown by official records

|---|---|
| Total outstanding warrants as reported by Gov Grover in his message also by state treasurer in his official report, Sept 5 1872, page 137 | $ 76 883 69 |
| Total outstanding warrants reported by Gov Grover and state treasurer Sept [illegible] 1874 page 109 | 349 009 1[illegible] |
| Actual increase incurred by Grover in two years | $272,125 48 |

Six thousand three hundred and forty six dollars and three cents more than the total amount of outstanding warrants at the close of Woods administration

We assert without fear of successful contradiction that out of the sum of $76 883 69 reported by Gov Grover in his message and also by official report of the state treasurer as the actual indebtedness on account of outstanding warrants Sept 5 1872, only $13 934 48 pertained in any manner whatever to Gov Woods' administration In other words the sum of $62 889 21 of the total indebtedness reported was contracted by his own administration For proof of this statement we respectfully refer to pages 139 and 158 inclusive, of the state treasurer's report for 1872

Here then we have the mortifying exhibition of a chief magistrate of a great state attempting to excuse his own reckless extravagance by laying the sin at some one else's door

That an indebtedness of $13 934 48 contracted by his predecessor prior to Sept. 5 1870 should induce him during the fiscal years 1873 and 1874 to contract an indebtedness amounting to $272,125 48 in excess of the two preceding years, is simply absurd and ridiculous

Gehazi the servant of the Prophet Elisha, was smitten with leprosy for a similar offense

It is true that owing to the failure of the legislature of 1868 to make the necessary appropriations, liabilities on account of outstanding warrants were transmitted to Gov. Grover amounting to $265 779 45 and at the same time it should be borne in mind that he (Gov Woods) transferred to Gov Grover in cash applicable to the payment, $248 328 76, leaving a balance to be provided for of $17 450 69 The whole matter can be summed up in a few words.

Governor Grover assumed the office of governor with an actual indebtedness on account of outstanding warrants of $17,450 69—contracted by his predecessor and retired after six years official service leaving an indebtedness on account of outstanding warrants alone amounting to $398 819 01, and this, too, notwithstanding he received tribute from the people in the shape of taxes amounting to $1 066 173 42 in excess of the total amount received during the administrations of Gibbs and Woods jointly—a period of eight years.

GOVERNOR FOR A PARTY

Small reason to complain has the Democratic party of Oregon now when it is proposed to call it to an account for its stewardship. It has had warning. Its extravagant measures and methods have been pointed out on repeated occasions during the whole of the past eight years. Never has THE OREGONIAN failed to denounce them or to warn the managers of the party that the devices and expedients to which they resorted in order to gain political objects or to get money out of the taxpayers would return to plague the inventors. As a consequence of the profligate management of the last eight years the party responsible for it enters the present canvass under a load of distrust. Even among its own adherents there is general belief that the management has been wasteful that it has been pursued more for personal and partisan ends than for the good of the public service and that a radical change is necessary in the methods of administration.

It was the misfortune of the state that Gov Grover was actuated throughout his whole career in the executive office with a desire and purpose to be elected to the senate of the United States. He was not content with being governor. He used the position as if he regarded it as nothing in itself but only as a help to further advancement. In consequence he never was able to interpose any obstacles to plans and schemes proposed by adherents of his party for promotion of their own interest at the public cost. It would not do to offend or disoblige them. Whatever they wanted, therefore, usually received his sanction. And even when his political opponents proposed anything which was likely to make local popularity at the expense of the general treasury, he often joined with them in the race for it. Perhaps it is too much to expect of a governor, who is trying to be elected senator, exemption from these failures, and in particular if he be a man who depends for advancement and success on petty expedients and the small resources of partisan management and accommodation.

This was the primary weakness of Governor Grover's administration. It made the executive who should have been free and independent, not only the creature but the servant of his party. And in turn in such case a party is always under control of a few ingenious and self seeking men, whose enterprising talents on such occasions are always employed in devising methods for their own advantage. A few politicians who wanted the emoluments that could be made out of the police service of Portland got up a bill to secure their object. Partisans in the legislature voted for it on the supposition that it would help to build up their party in Portland, and the governor approved it through a like motive. To gain support for a mendicant press the so-called litigant act was passed and to seek local favor appropriations were approved for every politician's wagon-road project, or for such purposes as the Baker academy and Corvallis college. The pay of every official of the state has been increased, the printer has been suffered to make extravagant sums by methods which no private business would tolerate and every effort to put the asylum for the insane on a basis that would stop the rapid increase of its cost has been successfully resisted. It is true that Republicans have had part in some of these things. A part of the science of small politics is to make trades for mutual advantage. When the treasury is to be attacked it is rare that the effort is confined wholly within party lines. But the general sense of the country usually holds to the greater responsibility the party immediately in control.

Had there been a man in the executive office who was not merely governor for his party but the executive of the state, the Democratic party would now be spared most of the disadvantages under which it labors on appearing again before the people. In this there is a lesson which should bear fruit for the future. No man is so responsible as Gov Grover for the embarrassing position in which his party is now placed, and though he is at present beyond the reach of the people the system which he and his associates built up is now to be overhauled and corrected.

A MESSAGE AND ITS FATE

Few perhaps are aware of Senator Mitchell's last effort to exploit great matters in his own behalf through buncombe dispatches and the significant failure that followed it. On the 16th he telegraphed a long message from Washington addressed to the chairman of the Republican state convention which convention was to assemble in Salem next day. This dispatch was received at Salem before the convention was called to order. At considerable length the senator undertook to give an account of what had been done on the railroad question to justify his course and exalt himself, and to denounce those who had called in question the wisdom and propriety of his action. It was his expectation, beyond doubt, that the dispatch would be read in convention, and that it would be used as a guide in framing the part of the platform relating to railroads, so that the senator might get special endorsement for his course on this subject. There could have been no other purpose in sending it. But it appeared that he was so far without honor in that body that no public mention was made of the dispatch, and no reference whatever was made to its contents. One of the committees of that body saw it, but it was not deemed prudent to submit to the delegates generally the senator's great effort to commend himself to the Republican convention of the state. In short, it was thought best not to hazard a scene by introducing the dispatch. The convention was not considering the senator, and needed no communication from him.

The contents of the dispatch were as characteristic as the act and manner of sending it. Mr Mitchell assumed that he had been altogether right in the railroad contest throughout, that he alone had stood firmly for the interests of Oregon and that Messrs Grover and Williams, by opposing him and insisting on separate bills had been instrumental in depriving Oregon of what it is her right and her interest to obtain. He intimated that he had receded on this point only because it would have defeated all had he insisted longer on retaining the Salt Lake grant as part of the Northern Pacific bill. Nearly six months ago THE OREGONIAN said exactly this. It declared in the plainest and most positive manner from the first that if the scheme to compel the Northern Pacific to carry the Salt Lake were persisted in and maintained the whole effort would fail. We are gratified to know that even Mr Mitchell has now conceded this. But the history of the matter is that the Salt Lake grant was unloaded from the Northern Pacific to by his consent but in spite of him. It was the movement through the committee on public lands that stopped him from persisting further in his course of hostility to the Northern Pacific, for he saw that a proper bill reported from that committee would almost certainly pass notwithstanding his opposition.

That the senator is really in shifts and resources is apparent from the vaunt which it is learned he expressed in the smothered message that his course would now put to shame the libelers who have been urging that he was trying to kill the Northern Pacific. He is making great merit of his defeat. Forced to consent that the Salt Lake grant which he has kept for six months as a millstone around the neck of the Northern Pacific shall be cut loose or seeing rather that it was to be cut loose in spite of him he claims the result as proof that he is a good and earnest friend of the Northern Pacific and that the measure in its present shape is his own. Hence in his message to the convention which that body hadn't asked for and didn't receive, he spoke of the measure now presented as "my bill" and yet censured Messrs Grover and Williams because as he said they wouldn't support his propositions and he therefore had to abandon them. That the convention didn't want a message like this is not extraordinary. It had no use for buncombe and no intention of approving the senator's course on the railroad question.

Eastern journals generally warmly commend the senate for passing the judiciary committee's bill requiring the Pacific railroad companies to establish out of their earnings a sinking fund for the payment of their debt to the United States. The Chicago Tribune says: "That the very large plurality of 40 against 19 should have been secured for the bill in the face of the powerful opposition exerted personally by Gould Huntington and Dillon, their paid lobyists, and their attorneys on the floor of the senate was as unexpected as it is gratifying. For the result credit rightfully belong to the eminent lawyers comprising that portion of the judiciary committee which supported the bill—Messrs Thurman Edmunds David Davis Christiancy McDonald and Howe—and more especially to Judge Thurman who threw himself heart and soul into this attempt to compel the great railroad monopolists to make some provision for the repayment of the money advanced them by the government."

The Union Sentinel principal Democratic paper of Eastern Oregon judiciously thinks the ticket which its party is called on to support would have been materially strengthened by giving the old officers a furlough for a few years. It also says: "The name of A H Brown of Eastern Oregon as pompously announced in the nomination, will in our opinion, be found to be the weakest man where he is best known on the ticket. If we have a large Democratic majority in the state in June we predict Brown's election by a small majority." The Sentinel seems aware of the popular objection that the administration of this office is costing too much money.

TUESDAY MORNING APRIL 23 1878

CITY.

DEATH OF [illegible] W DAVIS. After many weeks of [illegible] suffering Charley Davis passed away from the scenes of earth at half past [illegible] o'clock yesterday afternoon. The injuries which caused his death were received on the railroad between Kalama and Tacoma some time in January and since that time he has been confined to his bed. The best medical treatment possible was had but such was the nature of the injuries that all human skill was unavailing. For months he was unable to eat and the nourishment he had was beef tea or stimulants and but little of that would remain on his stomach. So that before death came he had wasted away to a mere skeleton not weighing over 50 pounds although he was a young man who when in health was quite of average size. For weeks and weeks his father sisters and friends have watched tenderly by his side, but to day their vigil is over and his body to rest where it will slumber in peace till the final consummation of all things earthly. May the dead rest in peace and the living find consolation.

THE ORPHANAGE.—This worthy institution located in the grounds occupied by the Good Samaritan hospital and under the supervision of Mrs Smith is still in need of funds, and an entertainment will shortly be given in its aid. There are at present 16 little ones being taken care of all of whom are too young to send out to look after themselves. They vary in ages from the infant in arms to bright little boys and girls of ten. All are healthy which is fortunate, medical aid being unnecessary but there are expenses daily incurred which must be met and the income is insufficient to cover the same hence an occasional performance of some kind to raise funds. One must needs see the institution to best understand its wants.

FINGERS CUT OFF.—A little son of Mr Friedlander the jeweler, had the misfortune yesterday afternoon to cut off two of his fingers. The lad was playing in a carpenter shop with a hatchet and while endeavoring to chop a piece of wood severed his fingers. He was dreadfully frightened at the accident, and instead of going home he went running about the streets with the stumps of his fingers bleeding freely. The sight of the blood and the maimed appearance of his hand made the boy nearly crazy. When the accident became known the lad could not be found and his whereabouts was only discovered by tracking the blood. A physician was summoned and the wounded hand was properly dressed.

NECESSARY REPAIRS.—Carpenters have been engaged for several days in making some desirable improvements to the money order department of the postoffice. Heretofore the large desk behind which the business is transacted has extended across the room north and south. By reason of the location of the desk much of the light which is furnished from the large window fronting east has been shut out. The desk has been turned around and now extends east and west. Some other needed improvements are also being made.

INSANE PATIENT.—Marion Moore, the young man who made an unsuccessful attempt to destroy himself Sunday by taking strychnine, was examined yesterday before the proper authorities on a charge of insanity. He was adjudged insane and committed to the asylum. It is the opinion of the examining physician that Moore's insanity is of a hopeless type. The young man seems to have settled down into a condition of melancholy from which it is impossible to rally him. His insanity, it is said, is hereditary.

S.S. CALIFORNIA.—The steamship California, which has long been running on the line between this port and Sitka, has gone to San Francisco to receive some necessary repairs. After receiving the repairs needed the California will take a cargo for Cassiar on her return trip. She is expected to arrive here on the 30th inst in time to make her regular monthly trip to the north. Purser Hughes brought the mails overland from Port Townsend, and will await the return of the steamer.

REQUIRED TO REPORT.—Master Woodbridge Geary who passed such a creditable examination before the examining board, and was recommended as a suitable person to receive the appointment, is required to report at the military academy at West Point on or before the 11th of June. The young man has not received his appointment.

PACIFIC COAST PATENTS.—The following list of patents have been issued to inventors of the Pacific coast: John C. Estey, San Francisco utilizing power of water in pipes; Robt. K Jordan Oakland Cal marsh shoes; Geo E Gray San Francisco spiral springs; Thos. H King San Francisco, anti friction bearings for journals and axles.

JUDGE SAWYER COMING.—Judge Sawyer writes that he expects to come on the steamer from San Francisco in time to sit in the U S circuit court in this city on Monday the 13th day of May proximo.

STROLLING COWS.—A resident of the north end complains of stray cows eating his shade trees and thinks it high time these strolling animals should be looked after.

SHOOTING MATCH.—The shooting match announced for Saturday will take place tomorrow at the White House.

AMUSEMENTS.

ENTERTAINMENT.—New Market Theater was jammed to repletion last evening the attraction being an entertainment given there under the auspices of the Young Men's Catholic Union for the benefit of that organization. Financially and in other respects the entertainment was a highly successful. The proceeds are very substantial and will help fill the almost depleted treasury of the association. The exercises consisted of vocal and instrumental music recitations, tableaux, and concluding with the comic comedy of "The Broken Hearted Club" in which appeared eight ladies and four gentlemen. Want of space precludes an extended notice of this really enjoyable and creditable entertainment. The music was very well rendered for amateurs and some of the selections were heartily and deservedly encored. The tableaux were arranged by Mr Wills that clever actor and scenic artist and were excellent. Of these there were three, the subjects being "Night," "Morning" and "Evening." One of the most enjoyable and deserving features of the evening was the sketch and song (a member of Columbian No 3) of a fireman, rendered by little Laura White in costume. It took immensely and the little miss was an encore of which any artist might well feel proud. The "Comic Sketch by Numerous Recruits," was a very ludicrous performance but provoked the most immoderate mirth. Without an exception the performance was creditable to the participants, and the result must be gratifying to the members of the association.

BRIEF NOTES.

Have you seen the new steamer?

Meeting of the Waverly club to night.

The "Baby Show" will open next Thursday.

Bert's dramatic company has reached Boise City.

Special meeting of common council to morrow evening.

Lent is over. Flesh will now suffer. No more eggs and fish.

CITY.

DEATH OF CHARLES W DAVIS.—After many weeks of severe suffering Charley Davis passed away from the scenes of earth at half past 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon The injuries which caused his death were received on the railroad between Kalama and Tacoma sometime in January and since that time he has been confined to his bed The best medical treatment possible was had but such was the nature of the injuries that all human skill was unavailing. For months he was unable to eat, and the only nourishment he had was beef tea or similar fluids and but little of that would remain on his stomach So that before death came to his relief he had wasted away to a mere skeleton not weighing over 90 pounds, although he was a young man who when in health, was quite of average size. For weeks and weeks his father, sisters and friends have watched tenderly by his side but to-day they will lay his body to rest where it will slumber in peace till the final consummation of all things earthly May the dead rest in peace and the living find consolation

THE ORPHANAGE.—This worthy institution located in the grounds occupied by the Good Samaritan hospital, and under the supervision of Mrs. Smith, is still in need of funds and an entertainment will shortly be given in its aid. There are at present 16 little ones being taken care of all of whom are too young to send out to look after themselves They vary in ages from the infant in arms to bright little boys and girls of ten All are healthy, which is fortunate, medical aid being unnecessary, but there are expenses daily incurred which must be met and the income is insufficient to cover the same, hence an occasional performance of some kind to raise funds. One must needs see the institution to fully understand its wants.

FINGERS CUT OFF.—A little son of Mr Friedlander, the jeweler, had the misfortune yesterday afternoon to cut off two of his fingers. The lad was playing in a carpenter shop with a hatchet and while endeavoring to chop a piece of wood severed his fingers He was dreadfully frightened at the accident and instead of going home, he went running about the streets with the stumps of his fingers bleeding freely. The sight of the blood and the maimed appearance of his hand, made the boy nearly crazy When the accident became known the lad could not be found, and his whereabouts was only discovered by tracking the blood. A physician was summoned and the wounded hand was properly dressed.

NECESSARY REPAIRS.—Carpenters have been engaged for several days in making some desirable improvements to the money order department of the postoffice Heretofore the large desk behind which the business is transacted, has extended across the room north and south. By reason of the location of the desk, much of the light which is furnished from the large window fronting east has been shut out. The desk has been turned and now extends east and west. Some other needed improvements are also being made.

INSANE PATIENT.—Marion Moore, the young man who made an unsuccessful attempt to destroy himself Sunday by taking strychnine was examined yesterday before the proper authorities on a charge of lunacy. He was adjudged insane and committed to the asylum. It is the opinion of the examining physicians that Moore's insanity is of a hopeless type. The young man seems to have settled down into a condition of melancholy from which it is impossible to rally him His [illegible], it is said, is hereditary.

SS CALIFORNIA.—The steamship California, which has long been running on the line between this port and Sitka, has gone to San Francisco to receive some necessary repairs After making the repairs needed the California will take a cargo for Cassiar on her return trip She is expected to arrive here on the 9th inst, in time to make her regular monthly trip to the north. Purser Hughes brought the mails overland from Port Townsend, and will await the return of the steamer

ORDERED TO REPORT.—Master Woodbridge Geary, who passed such a creditable examination before the examining board, and was recommended as a suitable person to receive the appointment, is required to report at the military academy at West Point on or before the 15th of June. The young man has not received his appointment.

PACIFIC COAST PATENTS.—The following list of patents have been issued to inventors of the Pacific coast: John C. Estey, San Francisco, utilizing power of water in pipes, Robt [illegible], Oakland, Cal, marsh shoes, Geo [illegible], San Francisco, spiral springs, Thos. [illegible], San Francisco, anti friction bearings of journals and axles.

JUDGE SAWYER COMING.—Judge Sawyer writes that he expects to come on the steamer from San Francisco in time to sit in the U.S. circuit court in this city on Monday the 13th day of May proximo.

STROLLING COWS.—A resident of the north end complains of stray cows eating his shade trees. He thinks it high time these strolling animals should be looked after

SHOOTING MATCH.—The shooting match announced for Saturday will take place to-morrow at the White House.

AMUSEMENTS.

[illegible].—New Market Theater was crowded to repletion last evening the attraction being an entertainment given there under the auspices of the Young Men's Catholic Union for the benefit of that organization. Financially and in every respect the entertainment was highly successful. The proceeds are very substantial and will help fill the almost depleted treasury of the association. The exercises consisted of vocal and instrumental music, recitations, tableaux, and concluding with the comedy of "The Broken Hearted [illegible]," in which appeared eight ladies and four gentlemen. Want of space precludes an extended notice of this really enjoyable and creditable entertainment. The music was very well rendered by amateurs and some of the selections were heartily and deservedly encored. The tableaux were arranged by Mr. White, that clever actor and scenic artist, and were excellent. Of these there were three, the subjects being "Night," "Morning" and "Rest". One of the most enjoyable and deserving features of the evening was the sketch and song (a member of Columbian No 3) of a fireman, rendered by Miss Laura White in costume. It took immensely and the little miss won an encore of which any artist might well feel proud The "Comic Sketch" by "Nimeous Recruits," was a very [illegible] performance, but provoked the most immoderate mirth. Without an exception the performance was creditable to the participants, and the result must be gratifying to the members of the association.

THE SCHOOL MEETING.

Annual meeting of the tax payers of this school district was held at the court house last evening Mr A H Morgan president of the board of directors the school clerk Mr Williams and about seventy five tax payers were present

The meeting was called to order by Mr Morgan directly after which the minutes of the last meeting held on the 8th inst were approved

The committee appointed at the last meeting to investigate the needs of the district as regards additional school facilities and other matters submitted the following report

To the Tax-payers of School District No 1, Multnomah County: Your committee appointed on the evening of April 8th to consider the question of the purchase of real estate for the purpose of increasing the school accommodations beg leave to report

That we have visited the various schools of the district and while we find them in good condition yet find them crowded. The population of the city is increasing and from this cause and from the growing favor shown the public schools the average increase in attendance of this year is about 18 per cent

We therefore deem it essential and necessary that increased school accommodations be had

In consideration of the location of the present school houses, and the probable future needs of the district we have concluded that a fourth school house should be located not farther east than Seventh street not farther west than Tenth street not farther north than Main street and not farther south than Mill street

In making a selection of a block within these limits we have considered the cost of the building and present improvements of the property and unanimously recommend the purchase of block No 23 known as the Harker block located between Madison and Jefferson West Park and East Park streets

This property can be bought for $12,000 payments to be made when the next tax is collected—that is, the tax that will probably be levied by this meeting—and no interest will be charged on the purchase price until said tax is collected

Your committee in conjunction with some of the teachers of the schools, have made some approximate estimates and have concluded that an expenditure this year of $15 000 in the way of improvements over the purchase price will give all the increased accommodations needed within the next two years

We would, therefore recommend a building tax of one and three fourths (1¾) mills in addition to the regular school tax which on a valuation of $8 000 000 will give a building fund of $14 000 This continued for two years successively will pay for the property and its improvement.

If this plan is adopted money will have to be borrowed—about $14 000—for the term of about one year Your committee have made inquiry in regard to the rates of interest and can say that the money can be borrowed at a rate not exceeding ten (10) per cent per annum and probably for a less rate

Your committee have examined block 96 in Caruthers addition located between Fifth and Sixth streets and Sheridan and Caruthers streets belonging to this district and in our opinion it is now and ever will be entirely unfitted for school purposes and would recommend its disposal or its exchange for property south of the gulch.

Your committee have examined the claim of Mr Perry Davis and have taken his statement in writing in relation thereto Mr Davis, although requested has failed to produce any witnesses But from examination your committee is satisfied that his claim is meritorious yet think the amount $[illegible]53 is too much according to contract price and since Mr Davis is not positive as to the number of days engaged by him on the work we would recommend that his claim be allowed at $150

Your committee although not so requested but in view of the past experience of this district with its school clerks would suggest that the directors at the beginning of each year make an estimate of the probable fees of the school clerk for the year and that payment be made to him not exceeding his pro rata per month for the whole year—payments made from taxes actually collected Respectfully submitted

CHAS HODGE
I BROOKE,
FRANK DEKUM
Committee.

PORTLAND, April 22 1878

Mr Brooke a member of the committee stated that since the report had been prepared he had learned that a fractional part of two blocks containing almost ten lots situated just back of Mr Burrell's place and within two blocks of the Harker block could be purchased for $5 500

At this point the meeting entered upon a long and somewhat irrelevant discussion on school situations and buildings Mr Jackson Dr Glenn R Mendenhall, Judge Adams and others took part in the argument.

Mr H Failing moved that the recommendation in the report of the committee relating to Davis claim and to the school clerk's salary be adopted carried

He also moved that the directors be instructed to open for bids on the school block in Caruthers Addition or to exchange it for suitable property carried

J C Moreland moved that the directors be instructed to purchase the Harker block at the price named in the report After a spirited discussion of an hour or more, in which the advantages of a number of other localities were examined, the motion prevailed

Mr Failing moved that a tax of three mills per dollar on the property of the district be levied for ordinary school purposes and that a tax of 1¾ mills be levied for the purpose of purchasing the block named and toward building a school house thereon carried

On motion of Mr Moreland the directors were authorized to borrow a sum not exceeding $14 000 for the purpose of building a new school house before the commencement of the September term of school

On motion adjourned

THE OREGON

[illegible] THE O. S. S. [illegible] NEW [illegible] FIRST STEAMER FROM NEW YORK [illegible] HANDSOMEST [illegible]—OFFICERS OF THE [illegible]—INCIDENTS OF THE VOYAGE, ETC.

The telegraphic announcement [illegible] THE OREGONIAN yesterday morning that the [illegible] steamship Company's new and elegant steamer Oregon had arrived at Astoria Sunday evening and would sail for Portland the following morning, had the effect to draw an immense concourse of people to the wharf where she was expected to land The Oregon was announced to sail from Astoria [illegible] and consequently was expected to arrive here at an early hour in the afternoon about [illegible] o'clock However the steamer did not leave Astoria till an hour later than was announced—[illegible] o'clock—and reached here nearly an hour later than was anticipated

As she was not expected till [illegible] no sp early many did not start for the [illegible] till after the steamer [illegible] By half past [illegible] o'clock several hundred persons had arrived at the wharf awaiting the arrival of the new and handsome stranger Crowds kept pouring from all directions and [illegible] o'clock over 1,000 persons had congregated about the foot of [illegible] st All eyes were anxiously turned down the river watching for the least indication betokening the approach of the steamer Expectation was soon relieved from further doubt For soon a cloud of black smoke was seen to rise above the low line of timber below the foot of Swan Island and a few minutes later the masts, stack and huge black hull of the steamer hove in sight It was a most gratifying spectacle to that immense throng of Portland's citizens to see the noble craft sweep around the bend in the river and turn her prow toward the city

The first appearance of the Oregon was the signal for the Portland Light Battery to commence firing the salute As the visitor moved rapidly forward up the river the cannons belched forth at brief intervals in thunder tones a welcome which aroused the slumbering echoes about the city and sent them reverberating among the neighboring hills and forests By the time the steamer reached the lower sawmill the Battery had finished firing the salute Just as the steamer was passing the mill several short whistles were given as a token of friendly welcome, which were promptly answered by the Oregon As a further acknowledgment of the cordial reception received the flag on the steamer was dipped gracefully several times One of the first persons to be recognized by the thousands who were straining their eyes as the vessel with her colors all streaming in the breeze came sweeping slowly but majestically up to the wharf was the tall and familiar form of Commodore Connor who had safely brought the steamer through her long and tempestuous voyage. Standing by his side was also seen Mrs. Connor, his most estimable wife who had accompanied him on the passage from New York To both the Commodore and his wife it must have been a proud and happy moment and to be able to congratulate them on their speedy and safe return from the voyage was no less gratifying to their many friends

Soon after the steamer had arrived alongside the dock and was made fast the large doors which up to that time had kept the surging mass of humanity back, were thrown open and the crowds poured in like a flood A pell mell race commenced to see who should be the first to board the steamer The large gangway was totally inadequate to accommodate the crowd But in a short time the jam was over and persons could go on board without the risk of being rudely elbowed and jostled about. After the first rush of curiosity was over the crowds continued coming and going in a steady stream and up to 10 o'clock last evening it is safe to state that several thousand persons had visited and inspected the Oregon

A very elaborate description of the Oregon was given in THE OREGONIAN at the time prior to her departure from New York and a repetition is needless in this connection In every respect the steamer corresponds with the published description and the words elegant superb and magnificent are the only adjectives which can adequately convey an idea of the steamer the machinery the elaborate and costly finishing and appointments and general arrangement for the comfort safety and convenience of the passengers It is safe to assert that at no previous time in the history of this state has as large magnificently finished and furnished steamer ever crossed the Columbia river bar An inspection of the Oregon fully justifies the assertion that [illegible] is one of the finest steamships in the world This is saying a good deal but it is true

The steamer has stood the long voyage remarkably well and arrives in excellent condition—looking as clean and fresh as could possibly be expected After being discharged the steamer will be thoroughly cleaned and made to look as bright as a new pin when she will be thrown open for public inspection No person should fail to see her

Through the courtesy of the officers of the steamer and Mr J D Biles secretary of the company we have been furnished with the following

THEN AND NOW

Many old residents of Oregon will remember at this time how vastly the facilities for travel and transportation between Portland and San Francisco have been improved within the past quarter of a century, and will contrast this floating palace making the trip inside of three days and the little old steamship Columbia which usually took from four to seven days and made the voyage one to be dreaded and which people only undertook in case of necessity And notwithstanding the superior accommodations now offered the cost of traveling has been reduced corresponding with the reduced cost of other things $25 for a trip to San Francisco on the Oregon being cheaper in 1878 than was $75 to $100 for the same trip on the Columbia in 1851 The O S S Co in furnishing themselves with their splendid boats have shown a disposition to keep up with if not ahead of, the rapidly growing business of the northwest coast The management of the company doubtless also in their vast outlay of capital, foresee the future greatness of the trade and travel on the route traversed by their ships and desire to be fully prepared to meet as well as to encourage its more rapid development, by affording every facility possible in their line for its conduct with safety and celerity, and we believe no one who is not really a churl will fail to accord them all praise for their enterprise in putting upon our waters such a magnificent, safe and powerful vessel as the good ship Oregon

PLEASANT WORDS—CONCLUSION

One of the passengers who came from Valparaiso has handed us the following letter which will no doubt be perused with interest and pleasure

The O S S Co's steamship Oregon left Valparaiso at 1 P M the 30th of March her voyage to Portland ended April 22d During the whole voyage the steamer proved herself to be fast and the writer, who has traveled extensively bears witness that he never before had the good fortune to be so little tossed about upon the high seas as during this trip The sea-going qualities of the Oregon are highly and honestly attested by all on board and she is recommended to the traveling public The cabin and state room accommodations are excellent the servants have been attentive and everything about the steamer well conducted The provisions on board were of excellent quality and were amply served under the management of J L Nagle steward formerly known on board the Henry Chauncy, running from New York to Chagres

Capt F Connor long and favorably known on the Pacific coast gave abundance of proof of his careful management and of his worth as a cautious capable navigator he carried with him the confidence of his passengers

The first officer H Stengtacks was formerly sailing master to the late German polar expedition and is noted as a thorough navigator to which may be added an astronomer

The second officer F F Barry formerly of the U S navy when on duty was distant to [illegible] but once free of his watch was pleasant affable and social He was quite a favorite

The chief engineer J C Henderson was the life of everything on board His peculiar ways of spinning yarns his facility of drawing upon the imagination his invention and withal the [illegible] absurdities of his narratives were beyond description and with the passengers collected around him peal after peal of laughter would burst forth at his sallies With all his merriment he never forgot his duties on board ship he was a [illegible] in his profession and his general [illegible] upon all subjects gave evident proof [illegible] He is a character rarely met with [illegible] [illegible] by her graces and [illegible] to the pleasure of the voyage

Henry [illegible] steamboats on the Pacific [illegible] well with [illegible] new friends on board [illegible] from his private [illegible] about Methodical in all his acts [illegible] conversation attentive to the wants of [illegible] passengers forward and [illegible] pleasure on board

[illegible] to [illegible] board [illegible] with [illegible] will make [illegible]

The voyage was certainly [illegible] [illegible] occurred [illegible]

Mrs Connor the commander's good lady threw overboard a bottle in which was the [illegible] of the ship, its date and a few words. That [illegible] the [illegible] success of a former one [illegible] be picked up in Panama bay is doubtful The event took place shortly after crossing the line, and upon the same day another bottle was [illegible] into the sea by one of the passengers

Sunday April 14th.—Religious service was held on board Rev A M [illegible] officiating after which the little daughter of Captain and Mrs Connor was baptised under the name of Amelia Agusta Connor [illegible] F Baury acting as godfather and Miss A J [illegible] as godmother In the evening this event was celebrated by the passengers in the dining saloon the ceremonies being opened by the [illegible] of the following historical fact

Upon the completion of King Solomon's temple at [illegible] over the [illegible] the east was placed the all seeing eye and in the pupil of this eye was placed a large brilliantly cut crystal the ray of light reflecting upon it at a certain [illegible] full of life and to look straight to the very heart of the spectator and [illegible] great uneasiness to the [illegible] In commemoration of this event an anniversary was appointed for the naming of children and their registration It was customary upon this day to first sprinkle the children with bright sparkling liquid after which the gathered people drank copiously of it supposed to have been [illegible] water In like manner we who are assembled together to night propose to carry out this happy custom at this time Corks flew about at [illegible] The sick [illegible] the narrator could hold no longer and amidst the screams of the ladies and the laughter of the gentlemen as each succeeding cork flew out a full glass was pressed to the parched lips and conversation became general

The historical facts above related were fully confirmed by the chief engineer whose family have handed down from King Solomon's time to the present a tradition of their being appointed to wipe the tear from the eye each succeeding year until the temple's destruction

This voyage with all its monotony has certainly been a pleasant one and we wish all success to the Oregon and her officers and in separating as we do one from another yet we are satisfied some there will be joined together for life blessing (or cursing) the opportunity which brought them together

A New Dodge in Horse Stealing.

[From the Walla Walla Watchman

Last Sunday morning the proprietors of the new livery stable on Alder street, missed a fine sorrel mare belonging to Mr Gregory They knew it was not lost, but stolen Toward noon a dark villain known as half breed Joe came loafing around and on hearing just what he expected to hear he said

I know where that mare is Give me a horse to hunt her up, and if I bring her in promise to give me ten dollars He soon was in the saddle accompanied by J Brown one of the proprietors of the stable When about six miles from town the half breed all at once struck out evidently trying to get away with the new outfit, but Mr Brown being on the fleetest horse overtook him and made him dismount Now said he you scoundrel you show me where that mare is The half breed gave a terrific yell which brought forth another half breed on the stolen mare from the thicket close by As he dismounted he drew a pistol and fired from under the horse at Brown the other half breed striking him at the same time in the face Mr B saw that this meant business and he opened his little battery which put the thieves to the woods but why he could not have made good [illegible] them then and there is a mystery to us The stolen mare escaped during the firing Brown then returned and told his partner Joel Woodworth how matters stood Both then started out together and woe be unto half breed Joe if these men catch him

PUYALLUP VALLEY

MEEKER'S STATION, W. T.
April 1[illegible] 1878

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

The railroad traveler discerns no inviting prospect in this direction as he descends from the bluff at New Tacoma. Stretching east ward is an expanse of water bordered by flat meadows indented here and there with little inlets and divided by the Puyallup river. Along the deep fringe of the forest beyond appears the Indian village.

The reservation extends across the valley along the water front and a few miles up the river. To Indians within these limits the government has assigned lands upon which many families are now living, and which to all appearance are cultivated with as much success as if white men were the managers.

The government has for some years employed mechanics and school teachers among the Indians and the Presbyterian church has stationed missionaries here. After much inquiry among the people I conclude that the character and condition of these Indians are very much improved. In consequence of which the hostility entertained towards them only a few years ago has disappeared. Formerly their indolence and thriftlessness were notorious. A few days work when hunger compelled it, or the thirst for liquid poison incited it satisfied the temporary need and no inducement of higher wages could keep them at work. Now the men are continuously employed in various departments and are a better dependence than the ordinary run of so called white laborers. The women are useful in kitchen and laundry and the children are learning habits of industry. At the camps and mills in fishing and on their own farms or in the fields of others, they are as usefully employed as any class of white men in the same circumstances, and their average morality will bear comparison with that of any class in the country. All this has been brought about by two or three causes. First, fundamental. Instruction of the mind and instruction in moral and religious duty. Second, auxiliary. The government's just and humane policy culminating in the land endowment a homestead for each family. Here is the solution of the vexed Indian question. This plan faithfully executed provides a safe speedy adequate and economical remedy for all the difficulties and removes them out of the way forever. Let intelligent and benevolent men and women study it and then make their influence felt in supporting it.

A pioneer widely known to settlers and government officers thirty years ago as a teacher in the Indian school John Flett was indispensable to the government transactions with the Indians in most parts of the present subdivisions known as Idaho Oregon and Washington. He knew their character and feelings by long intercourse with them and they had learned to trust him. Hence in great emergencies no interpreter suited them but John Flett. His services were invaluable in the negotiations of several important treaties, which he explained in the several dialects with idiomatic familiarity.

Many readers of THE OREGONIAN will thank me for information about him. A sight of his manly, honest and intelligent face would do them good as it does me whenever I see it. The government honors and pensions many men who have far less claims upon it than John Flett, while he remains unnoticed.

The Rev M G Mann is the school teacher and pastor of the Indians and resides among them with his family. He is zealous and diligent in promoting their interests, and his success is already great.

The soil of the valley is inexhaustibly fertile. It is best adapted to pasturage, fruit and oats. A small proportion only is reduced to cultivation, and the culture an easy task on the cleared land, shows the abundant capacity of the soil. Many beautiful farms exist and some localities already wear the aspect of old settled communities. To see an illustration, leave the train at Meeker's pass by Stewart's, cross the ferry, looking around as you go. Farm after farm of well tilled land comes into view, fruit trees are hidden in bloom and hop vines are climbing the poles. Large tracts are thinly covered with deciduous timber, allowing a more extensive view than the evergreen foliage admits of. Now You pass McMillan's store and shortly come to a school house—large, airy, painted and in a beautiful location, all reflecting credit upon the character and intelligence of the district. The teacher whom they employ—Prof J H Hall, of Seattle—is also one of the best.

An event long anticipated in this region took place last Sunday. A church just finished was set apart to its sacred uses with becoming ceremonies, after the Presbyterian order. A very large assemblage collected in and around the building a portion of whom came from Tacoma on an excursion train with Col Black, general superintendent of the N. P. R. R. The sermon was by Dr. Lindsley, of Portland, whose congregation had contributed a liberal share of the building fund and the act of dedication by Rev G. F. Whitworth, to whose plans and supervision the community is indebted for this fine structure. For it is a beautiful church, an ornament to any place, city or country. It is built of wood, and its style may be called rural gothic, the pointed arch duly appearing. The arches and borders of the windows are filled with stained glass, which suffuses the auditorium with a subdued and very pleasing light. The whole exterior of the edifice instantly suggests what is most significant in architecture, namely, the adaptation of the style to the intended uses of the building. No one can mistake this house for a factory or a tavern. It is a church suggesting thoughts of the unseen which we are prone to forget.

After the exercises the ladies spread and served a sumptuous feast free to all. The occasion was improved with a genuine gusto, and was doubly enjoyable as being unexpected by many. The fatness of the land in cream and butter overflowed and the excellence of culinary skill gave additional relish to the viands.

In the afternoon the reassembled audience was addressed by the Rev J R Thompson, of Olympia.

The coal mines which are reached by this branch railroad are not yet fairly opened. The road runs through a wild region almost covered with timber standing on a rich soil. The mines, so far as worked sustain the expectations created by the specimens of the coal which were subjected to trial. The quality appears to be superior and the quantity inexhaustible. At Wilkeson the present terminus of the road, the writer saw half a dozen seams varying in thickness from six to seven feet to twenty three within a few hundred yards of the station, and all favorably located for working and transportation. Explorations lead to the conclusion that the entire region is full of coal.

Another industry is just begun near the railroad. A vast deposit of coralloid limestone has just been discovered and is furnishing the finest quality of lime. It is like coral, and seashells are imbedded in it. The burnt lime crumbles into very pure and brilliant white. Some specimens are in possession of Mr Stephen P Lee, of Portland obtained by him on the ground.

Another industry lately introduced is at Puyallup station. It is a stave factory, which consumes a large amount of the cottonwood abounding in these parts. The factory price for the material pays for the clearing of the land.

But the culture of hops is the leading business of the valley. It requires much more labor than the uninitiated suppose. The cultivation is already begun with plow and hoe, and ceases not until the ground is made clean and porous like a well tilled field of corn. Then comes the tying to the poles repeated till the rampant vines defy restraint. The harvest begins when the flowers are ready for drying, and a few days decide the value of the crop. Night and day the work is pushed on for the ripening takes no intermission. The business at first was very remunerative. Large profits induced many to go into it, hence overproduction and fall of prices. Now many of the producers are making arrangements to abandon it. But this is not easily done. The capital invested cannot be immediately diverted to other channels without great loss.

I infer from a few instances which fell under my notice that the morality of hop-growing was a subject of discussion among the people. The consistency of a man who raises hops for the brewery and refuses to drink beer on conscientious principles may well be doubted. The profession of total abstinence ought to go further than a man's lips. The caustic discussions can do no harm on the contrary the debates on practical morality continually arising among men serves to keep fundamental principles in view leads to purer practices and tends to the more general observance of the duties which men owe to one another.

The regard manifested by the people for the higher interests of civil life makes this a desirable region for the best class of settlers. [illegible] lands yet obtainable and prices are moderate. Ira Meeker of Puyallup City has been on Puget Sound twenty seven years and is always ready to communicate information and sound advice to intending settlers. He is the author of a little book containing [illegible] out of print entitled Washington Territory West of the Cascade Mountains.

His Wonderful Success

IN THE TREATMENT OF ALL

Chronic and Difficult Diseases,

He has astonished the People of this Coast by his skillful Operations.

HE HAS TAUGHT IN HIS public and private lectures the true principles of health and life to both male and female. He has also warned them against habits that would be likely to produce disease in plain and comprehensive language. But where he has found them crushed and broken down by disease, mentally and physically he has restored them to health and happiness for it is well understood that without health there can be no happiness.

has made a specialty in the treatment of the following diseases Catarrh Bronchitis and all diseases of the throat and chest by an entirely new system only known to himself. Diseases of the Kidneys and Urinary Organs including Spermatorrhea Seminal Weakness or premature loss of Manhood. In the treatment of these diseases he has made a world wide reputation by his astonishing success not only on this Coast but throughout the whole United States. Diseases of the stomach bowels liver and kidneys as well as all diseases of the blood and skin he has become master of and never fails to give relief at once and permanently cures the case if he is applied to in time.

THE DOCTOR HAS GIVEN SPECIAL LECTURES

to ladies only for years and is perfectly familiar with all female complaints and understands their delicate and refined organization as well as the proper remedies which should be used to allay their suffering and restore them to perfect health.

THE DOCTOR HAS THIS ADVANTAGE

over most physicians—he can tell the patients disease the moment he comes in contact with them without any aid from the individual. This accounts in part for his great professional success.

All surgical operations can be performed by his skillful hand and the patient need not fear the result.

will send to those living at a distance and who cannot well visit his office a list of Printed Questions and by the answers when filled out he can tell the diseases well as the proper treatment almost as well as seeing the patient personally and will forward the proper medicines or instruments to any part of the country with full instructions and advice. Each letter requiring advice or list of questions must contain two postage stamps.

Everything strictly confidential and honorable.

THE DOCTOR

has studied in the best Medical Schools in Europe and three years in the Jefferson Medical College at Philadelphia, as more than one of the Medical men of the Medical Faculty in this State can testify.

CAUTION.

Persons coming to Portland, requiring medical treatment of the proper kind who desire to consult with me will please beware of persons who may try to coax them away to other so called Doctors through pretended friendship for the patients. Look out for them they are knaves prompted by selfish motives and what they can make. Be sure and ask for DR. PAUL M BRENAN the Medical Lecturer, and read his sign on his door.
